

NEW MEXICO REPUBLICANS ELECT HERNANDEZ & WILLIAMS

Republican Gains All Over the Country Proves that the
G. O. P. Has Swallowed up the Bull Moosers and Are the Real "Come Backs"

Quay county rolled up its usual majority for the democrats and J. H. Welch of Forrest and Henry Swan of Tucumcari are elected by good majorities to represent Quay county in the next state legislature. Mr. Boon is said to have led his ticket.

Mr Ferguson received a majority of 450 over Hernandez; Hill 275 over Williams with the candidates for state legislation receiving from 400 for Welch to 460 for Swan over the Republican candidates, Boon and Bridges.

The socialists received votes from 33 up to 72, while the progressives only polled 18 in the county. These are not official figures but are thought to be correct.

One coincidence is that at Logan which shows why Ferguson was defeated. The legislative candidates each received 50 votes while Mr. Ferguson received but 26 votes, and this proves that there are a few disgruntled democrats who have defeated their party in this state. Another instance at Obar shows the people appreciate the fact that their locality is noticed by their officials. Mr. Williams secured 35 out of 39 votes when the party vote was but 5 to 10. This was a vote of appreciation because of the fact that Mr. Williams ordered the railroad company to stop certain trains at that point, put in a temporary depot preparatory to the erection of a new depot, and his orders were obeyed.

The democrats lost none of the regular democratic states, but its quite evident they must wake up or a number of the newspapers in this state will have to change politics if they expect to secure the land publications.

Increasing Republican gains, particularly in New York and Massachusetts, were shown today as the returns became more complete. In New York the Republicans have elected the Governor and a senator, gained control of the legislature, elected the entire state ticket, and reduced the Democratic congressional delegation from 31 to 23.

In Massachusetts, the Republican victory was as marked. Both in Massachusetts and New York, the downfall of the "Progressives" was complete.

Incomplete returns from Tuesday's election showed these results:

Massachusetts Governor David I. Walsh, Democrat, reelected by 10,000; Republicans gained control of congressional delegation. Republicans seem to have elected most state officers with exception of governor and have legislative majority. Complete vote for governor: Walsh, Democrat, 206,524; McCall, Republican 196,800; Walker Progressive, 34,207.

Ohio—Frank B. Willis, Republican elected governor over James M. Cox, Democrat, present governor, Warren G. Harding, Republican; elected senator over T. S. Hogan, Democrat.

Elected 11 Republican and 11 Democratic members of congress. Defeated state prohibition and woman suffrage. Constitutional amendment for repeal county local option law still in doubt.

Iowa—Senator Cummins, Republican reelected by about 25,000. Governor Clarke, Republican, reelected by 20,000. Entire Republican ticket, including complete congressional delegation, reelected.

Illinois—Republican claim to have reelected Lawrence Y. Sherman, Republican, by 15,000. Progressive poor third. Republicans elected all state offices. Democrats lost 10 congressmen; Democrats gained 12.

Minnesota—Congressman W. S. Hammond, Democrat, elected governor by 25,000 to 50,000 over William F. Lee, Republican-Progressive; Vote light, Congressional delegation will be dominated by republicans.

South Dakota—Charles F. Burke, Republican, elected to senate. Governor Byrne, Republican reelected. Woman suffrage defeated.

North Dakota—Senator A. J. Gronna, Republican, reelected Governor L. B. Hanna, Republican reelected. Entire congressional delegation Republican. Woman suffrage defeated. Entire Republican state ticket successful.

Oklahoma—Robert L. Williams, Democrat elected by 7000 over John Field, Republican for governor. Senator Gore, Democrat, reelected. With one exception, entire Democratic ticket elected to congress.

Missouri—William H. Stone, Democrat, elected senator. Democratic state ticket successful. Eleven Democratic and two Republicans elected to congress. Fifteen proposed constitutional amendments failed.

Pennsylvania—Senator Boies Penrose, Republican, reelected. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Republican, elected governor. All Republican state candidates successful. Republicans elected four congressmen at large.

Indiana—Senator B. F. Shively, Democrat, reelected. Entire Democratic state ticket elected. Progressive a poor third.

Michigan—Governor W. N. Ferris Democrat, reelected by from 15,000 to 30,000 majority over former governor Chase Osborne, Republican.

Wisconsin—E. L. Philip, Republican, elected governor entire Republican state ticket successful. Governor Frances E. McGovern, Republican elected senator. All but one of the present congressmen reelected. All proposed constitutional amendments defeated.

Vermont—William F. Dillingham, Republican, reelected senator. Republican, retained control of the congressional delegation. State officers and legislature. Charles W. Gates Republican, elected governor.

The political campaign, consisting chiefly of a struggle for control of the houses of congress, has ended and the result will soon be known.

Interest is heightened by the fact that all successful candidates for the senate and house will be chosen by direct vote of the people.

In the house 218 members are necessary for a majority. The present Democratic standing is 285, Republican 122, Progressive Republican 2, "Progressive" 19, independent 1, and vacancies 6, which seats were last occupied by Democrats. To change the political complexion of the house, opposition parties must maintain their present strength and win 68 additional seats.

Of hardly less interest are the contests over state tickets. Governors are to be elected in 28 states and some of the campaigns, notably those in New York, California and Pennsylvania have been waged with much bitterness.

Efforts of the Democratic party to retain control of the lower house and of their opponents to rest it from them have called forth the full strength of all parties. In few previous off year campaigns have the chief figures of the national administration been engaged so generally.

President Wilson has made no speaking tours, but has written many letters of endorsement to Democratic candidates in doubtful states. Most of the members of the cabinet have spent much of the last fortnight in campaigning. The leading men of the Republican and "Progressive" parties, with the noteworthy exception of former President Taft, have been similarly engaged.

CHARITABLY INCLINED

Some of the citizens of the older states seem to think New Mexico is a place where their sick relatives and friends will be received with open arms, cared for and nourished back to life, so they bundle them up give them a few dollars and pay their railroad fare to Tucumcari or some other town in this state.

They arrive here full of hope and expect to be strong and robust in a few days. Their money is soon gone and now the city and citizens are asked to care for the patient.

From a financial standpoint the city is not capable of coping with the situation and cannot afford to furnish the proper care and nourishment, therefore the patient dies and when the friends and relatives are notified they turn the deaf ear and it is up to the city to pay the burial expenses.

An expense of several hundred dollars a year to this charitable work saps the life-blood out of a progressive town and makes it unable to make all necessary improvements.

A family moved here several months ago and during the husband's sickness other members of the family became sick. The mother was worked nearly to death trying to take care of the sick and the rest of family. The church people hired a girl to help, and a number of the citizens donated money to assist in securing help. The neighbors did cooking, housework, washing and ironing letting their own house work go.

It was afterward found out that this was a well-to-do family owning two farms one of which was said to bring in better than $3000.00 a year.

They took all the money, clothing and food offered them and even discharged the servant when the neighbors went in to help.

Another case was delivered to us from Amarillo with an appeal signed by the mayor asking our citizens to donate money to help a tubercular patient. Every day we are asked to assist some supposed-to-be pauper when perhaps the applicant has plenty of money stored away, or more than most of us.

AN APOLOGY

In our last issue Muirhead's Variety Store advertised underwear, sweaters, etc., which had not arrived when their advertisement was turned over to us but was due to arrive not later than Saturday. Saturday came but no goods—fact is the shipment did not get in until Tuesday of this week. Mr. Muirhead felt certain that eight days in transit would be sufficient when six days is the regular schedule from the point of shipment. This particular shipment was started Oct. 23rd hence should have been in by the 29th, or Thursday, but the ear in which it was consigned was laid out four days in transit and did not arrive in Tucumcari until Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Muirhead says that he was reminded by some of Ananias and Sapphira and the fate that befell them, and that this experience has cured him of advertising goods before they arrive.

Their advertisement was written in good faith and they feel that they owe this explanation and apology to their many disappointed customers.

The goods are here now as well as many other bargains and they have a half page ad. in this issue telling about them.

C. M. PARSONS REPORTED DEAD

A report reached this city which stated that Conductor C. M. Parsons had died at the hospital at Rochester Minn. This report was incorrect as was found out this morning.

A telegram was received which stated that Mr. Parsons had undergone another operation and was not expected to recover. His brother at Pratt received the same message and was told to come immediately. The railroad men from that division misunderstood the message and thus a report that Mr. Parsons had died was circulated here.

Mr. Parsons is well known in this county and state as he was a democrat and always assisted his party in every way possible. He is one of the oldest conductors on this road and has been a resident of Tucumcari for many years.

Mr. Parsons' many friends hoped his trip to Rochester would relieve him from his suffering and restore him to his former good health, but it seems all hope was in vain and a report of his death has been expected at any time.

SHOT THROUGH LEG

Clarence Wood, son of J. L. Wood, was accidentally shot through the right leg, just below the knee Sunday. His brother knocked a Remington rifle off the bed and it went off the ball passing in at the front and going clear through coming out at the back. The ball had a soft nose and tore an ugly gash in the leg.

He was brought to Tucumcari from his home 12 miles northwest and taken to the Physicians Hospital where the limb was dressed and it is thought possible to cure the wound, and it will not be necessary to amputate the leg.

THE BEST RIDERS IN THE WORLD

The seventh and twelfth United States cavalry under the direction of Lieutenant-General Nelson A. Miles, Brigadier-General Frank Baldwin, Major-General Jesse M. Lee, General P. Maus, Colonel W. C. Sickels and the Chief of scouts, Colonel W. F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill) engaged with their old time red antagonists, the Sioux, the Brules and the Cheyenes have realistically re-enacted the series of great engagements that finally ended Indian wars in this country, on the fields of original action. This is the largest and most scientific historical series ever offered to the inspection of the public through the medium of the picture film. This big tragic moving photodrama of the northern plains and buttes brings history home in new and trenchant fashion—heroic deeds of heroic men shown more plainly and more impressively than it could ever be gleaned from the printed page. At the Opera House, Wednesday Nov. 11, matinee and night.

DIED FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Geo. Sasser, who with his wife and family of seven children came to this city a few months ago, died from tuberculosis at his home in south part of town, Friday morning.

About a year ago he went to California from his home in Oklahoma to try and rid himself of this dreaded disease. He remained there but a short time and returned back to Arizona where he lived several months but gradually grew worse.

He came to Tucumcari about the first of June and thought he was getting along all right, but injured his leg and was compelled to stay in the house. He became worse and was unable to retard the ravages of the white plague.

He died Friday morning, but on account of one of his sons being sick with typhoid the family was unable to return with the body to the former home until Tuesday, when the physician said it was safe to take the boy on the train. Mrs. Sasser's brother came in from Oklahoma and assisted her in taking the family and remains of her husband back to their home.

CASE IS INCURABLE

According to a message received Tuesday at the Rock Island offices the Chicago Physicians pronounced Joe Dupont hopelessly insane and ascribed his trouble to softening of the brain. The message stated that he would be taken to either the Austin infirmary or to a Kansas institution. The Kansas institutions for the insane are located at Parsons and Osawatomie. As Mr. Dupont owns property in Kansas he can enter an institution in the state. In Texas there are about 300 insane being cared for by counties and otherwise, who should be in the state institution but who cannot be accommodated at present by the state. For this reason it is believed by friends of the family here that he will be placed in a Kansas institution.

Local railroad men report that Engineer Ed Altire of the E. P. & S. W. lost his reason a few days ago. He became violent and extreme measures were necessary in handling him. It is also reported that Engineer Gifford, Rock Island engineer working out of Pratt, has suffered a nervous breakdown. Dalt Hart Texan.

REAL UNITED STATES HISTORY ON THE SCREEN FOR THE FIRST TIME

While our enthusiasm runs riot when we think of the valiant deeds of the boys in blue in the great wars—the Revolution, the War 1812, the Civil War and the Spanish-American War—we are often prone to forget the sacrifices made for country in the so-called "Wars of Civilization," the wars against the Indians. At the Opera House, Wednesday, Nov. 11, matinee and night, the moving pictures of the most interesting of these battles with the Indians on the frontier will be shown. For historical accuracy perhaps no film that has yet appeared equals "The Indian Wars refought by the United States Army," which was produced under the personal direction of "Buffalo Bill" (Col. W. F. Cody), Gen. Nelson A. Miles and General Charles King. The pictures were taken on the original battle fields. Many of the participants in the original battles, army men and Indians, refought their fights for the benefit of the camera men. Four troops of United States cavalry, hundreds of Indians from the reservations, took part, permission having been granted by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Interior that this marvelous story of frontier history could be preserved at a time when so many of the gallant commanders, scouts, soldiers and Indians still lived and made it possible to a photographic record for the government archives at Washington.

FOUR TAKEN TO THE STATE PEN

Jeff Woodard returned Monday from Santa Fe where he delivered four boarders to the state penitentiary for safe keeping. He said "Buffalo" seemed proud to know he had secured room and board for a year at least. Frank Hunt, convicted of the murder of Wm. Jones and John Sweazea, was also among the group. He has made application for an appeal but did not perfect same and it is thought he will not. He was taken over there for safe keeping and will no doubt remain there to serve out as much of his 99 year sentence as the laws of nature will allow.

Jess Smith has appealed his case and will be kept here until it is found out that his case is affirmed or reversed by the higher courts.

It is reported that the local officers are making a strenuous effort to stop cattle rustling and since the arrest and jailing of Snide Riley two weeks ago three others have been lodged in jail to await the action of this district court. If a man pleads guilty the judge gives him a light sentence, but if he is guilty and has to be proven so the full penalty is assessed.

There are a number of cases the officers are working on and from the looks of the past two criminal dockets the sheriff and his assistants in this county are doing their duty and the people have little right to criticize the present officer.

The judge and juries are doing their duty and it is hoped Quay county will soon rid itself of this lawless element.

LOOK OUT FOR THE LION!

He will appear at the Opera House Friday, Nov 6.

When the "Wizard of Wiseland" holds the stage. This is the newest thing in the musical-comedy-extravaganza line, and it is great. The music is great, the comedians are greater, and the fun is greatest!

The jokes are new and rich and the singing as good as you've ever heard. Scenery O. K. Dialogue and Lyrics ALL Right, and the story—yes, it has a story, an absorbing, interesting story, well worked out, through it, is as fanciful as a Grimm Fairy tale. If you want to have two and a half hours of solid enjoyment, don't miss the "Wizard of Wiseland."
